Informational Writing

Students are writing an informational book about topics they are experts on. They have worked on organizing their ideas into chapters and using different text structures to convey information.

Weather and Climate Science Learning Targets:

I am learning that weather and climate are the result of interactions among earth's water and its atmosphere.

Students will be studying about clouds, the water cycle, weather conditions and patterns, weather hazards, and climates.

Character Studies

In reading, students are ending the unit by comparing characters in their realistic fiction book clubs.
